【 About UDP 】

The Crown Jewels of Sinology in Taiwan

★ Concept behind the logo design

The “blue sea” beneath signifies Taiwan’s characters as a maritime country — broad-minded, tolerant and flexible. UDP’s Chinese title “聯合百科” locates at the top, presented in the form of calligraphy which symbolizes our mission to promote Chinese culture. There's a red pearl imbedded in “udp.” It stands for our high-quality archives of Asian studies: "The Pearl of Sinology."

★ High-quality database brand on humanities and social sciences

Meanwhile, “pearl” also represents “small and refined Niche market,” representing our professional, in-depth position and cautiously-selected contents. With the vision to create Taiwan's own brand and provide quality databases, our has always been innovating continuously in content and technology. Launched in September 2023, our AI image search and colorization features have entirely reshaped the perspectives and horizons of Chinese scholars, becoming a pioneer in the digital content industry.

★ World-class products sold to 33 countries globally

UDP has been developing/representing 50+ Chinese databases (including Chinese, English, Japanese, Russian, Arabic, ect. ), processing 3 billion characters, trusted by 1,200+ libraries and academic institutes of 33 countries from Asia, America, Europe and Oceania. We offers comprehensive databases of Asian studies/sinology, starting from our central focus of Taiwan to Greater China, covering the key research issues discussed by sinologists worldwide.

★ The crown jewels of Sinology in Taiwan

We offer precious, exclusive content and unique added-value search functions to enrich your research treasures. Especially, National Palace Museum Journals Archive and Sinica Sinoweb can be rated as “The Crown Jewels of Sinology in Taiwan” while being UDP’s representative products as well. Hopefully, users will be able to enjoy the prosperous sinology treasure and its new charm based on digital technology.
